Citizens jail group to help with final plan

BY DENA BISNETTE
Instead of disbanding now that a $2.5 million bond issue for a new jail has been passed, the Jail Committee plans to stay together and work with the board of supervisors until the jail is actually built.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson informed the board Wednesday of the committee's plan to continue assisting the county with the jail issue.

Committee members wanted to help with the completion of the final plans for the project.

Peterson said the group may be able to cut some of the cost to taxpayers by removing some of the unnecessary features included in the plans used to make the cost estimate.

Those plans, according to board attorney Walter Gex III, were put together by architect Fred Wagner but were not the final plans for the project.

"We want to cut out things we don't need to in order to meet minimum standards, like air conditioning. All we really need is proper ventilation," Peterson said. "We want to look at things like carpeted areas that could be done less expensively with tile."

"The plans were gone over in detail to arrive at the estimate," Gex said. "Part of the criticism from the 21 percent who didn't vote for the bond issue was that this is too expensive for a bunch of criminals."

The supervisors, however, were in favor of letting the committee go over the plans again. Board President A.A. Kellar stressed the importance of the committee's help in setting up the jail interior to utilize as few personnel as possible.

He also feels the committee might be able to help keep the maintenance costs of the design down.

The supervisors approved authorizing Wagner to work on final plans and specifications for the project.

They also agreed with a proposal by Peterson that county officials and committee members visit similar jails to help determine what the county needs.

The jail committee will report back to the supervisors after meeting with Wagner.

In another matter related to the jail, Supervisor Bert Courge publicly thanked the jail committee, the Chamber of Commerce and the local press for generating the voter support needed to pass the bond issue.

Shot fired during station armed robbery

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Police are seeking three persons involved in an armed robbery of the Gulf Service Station at Diamondhead early Wednesday morning.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson gave this account of the robbery:

"Two subjects entered the station around 1:20 a.m. Wednesday with one going to the rear while the other purchased a pack of cigarettes and left. The other subject grabbed a customer in the store at the time by a scarf and placed a blue steel 25-caliber pistol to her temple and announced that it was an armed robbery."

"The subject then threatened to kill store clerk Mrs. Angela Storey and Mrs. Loretta Braud, the customer. He then took some $350 in cash and as he backed to the door ordered the two women to raise their arms and not follow," Peterson added.

"The subject fired one shot between the two as he fled the station and it lodged in a cinder block wall. He and the subject who purchased the cigarettes then fled on foot to a waiting vehicle parked on the I-10 Overpass with a third subject waiting and headed East on I-10," Peterson stated.

The vehicle believed to be a 1972 or 1973 Buick dark blue or green, was pursued by a Diamondhead Security Officer who lost it in a chase, Peterson said.

The car was believed to have some damage to the left front fender and door.

Hancock Deputies responding to the scene were Willie Lee, Don Coss, and Harold Heine.

Neither victim were injured, Peterson added.

The subject with the gun was described as a white male in his 20's, six foot tall, 190 pounds, dark color hair, wearing a bandana on lower portion of face, blue jeans, and white shirt.

The second subject was a white SHOT—Page 12A

Americans take freedom for granted, Vietnam vet says

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Vietnam War veteran Richard L. Rotundo of Bay St. Louis was guest speaker at the annual Veterans' Day Celebration Monday at City Hall.

Rotundo spoke on freedom, a word which he said Americans have taken for granted for too long.

"What do you think it would be like if there were no Veterans' Day, no heroes to be heralded, no freedom," Rotundo asked.

He told listeners about the changes there would be in their lives if the new form of government was a communist dictatorship.

Changes Rotundo mentioned included required military service of three years, religious practices outlawed, school possible only if the government permits and all media completely owned and operated by the government.

Rotundo said this information is fact in communist ruled countries today.

"Thank God that the country we do live in gives us the freedoms of a political democracy," he said. Rotundo concluded that the reason we honor America's veterans is to just say thanks for preserving what we have always had, freedom.

Festivities started early with a parade which ended at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

Several state and national officers were present for the celebration in addition to county officials.

Included among these guests were Henry McCoy, American Legion National Executive Committeeman; Clayton Thompson, Southern Area Commander; P. O. Gibson, past Department Commander; Delores Gibson, past department president of the Ladies Auxiliary; Phyllis Moran, department historian; Lou Wilkinson, 9th District president.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry J. Bennett welcomed guests to the celebration and Joseph Benvenuti, chaplain of the American Legion Post, delivered the benediction.

Special guests were World War I veterans Hugh Miller, A. C. Mercer, Louis Latour and Felix Fallo.

The Bay St. Louis Junior High School Band performed the national anthem.

Hancock United Way tops halfway mark

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Some $24,978 has been raised towards the $45,000 United Way of Hancock County's 1984 campaign drive.

Conrad Mauffray, United Way executive director reported the 1984 campaign was well underway at the group's regular monthly meeting held on Tuesday at Coast Electric.

Mauffray also reported on the United Way's administering of the $10,246 federal funds to supplement food and shelter programs in the area.

"A local board made up of members from various agencies in the county selected by the United Way has been established to distribute the funds," Mauffray said.

United Way of America will function as administrator for some $70 million of the Federal Emergency Management Agency funds appropriated by Congress for communities across the nation.

Norton Haas, Hancock United Way president, presided over the meeting.

Hilda Bourg, 1984 campaign chairman reported several residents of Hancock County working out of the county have been designating Hancock as the receiver of their payroll donations.

The Hancock County United Way organized in 1964 funds 15 agencies.

Hancock's funding comes through payroll deductions, corporate, business, and individual gifts and also shares with the Combined Federal Agencies.

Bay commission tables zoning request

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission took a request for a zoning change under advisement Tuesday at their regular monthly meeting.

Lora M. and James E. Pritchett, land owners requested that the zoning on their property be changed from residential to commercial (R1 to C2).

The change would be on lots 62 and 63 in the Royal Lot Subdivision. Both lots front on Dunbar Avenue, however one of the lots also faces Esplanade Street.

The Pritchetts stated that their property is surrounded on three sides by commercial property and originally it was intended for the land to be zoned commercial.

Esplanade Avenue resident Nolan Ladner spoke to the board against the requested change.

"We (Esplanade Avenue residents) are not just against the Pritchetts but we want to know what is going to be built there," Ladner said.

Following the discussion, the commission told the Pritchetts that they could not grant the request until more specific plans on what the property will be used for are presented to the commission.

The next meeting of the commission will be Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis City Hall.

Bay-Waveland telephone lines improved

Expanded and improved telephone service additions have been added in the southern portion of the Bay St. Louis/Waveland exchange area, along and adjacent to Central Avenue.

According to Don Roberts, district manager for South Central Bell, about 20,000 feet of 1200 circuit and smaller aerial and buried cable was placed on this undertaking.

"The new facilities will relieve existing facilities and provide for growth within this area of the exchange," Roberts said.

Port and Harbor approves change of testing lab

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has decided to terminate a contract with a testing lab working on projects at Stennis Airport.

The termination of Gulf Cities Laboratories was recommended Tuesday by Michael Smith, whose firm, Advanced Development Inc., served as engineer on apron expansion and parallel taxiway projects at the airport. His recommendation was adopted by the Port and Harbor Commission but must be presented to the board of supervisors for final approval.

The matter was not on the list of Port and Harbor Commission recommendations presented to the supervisors Wednesday.

Smith alleged that Gulf Cities has turned in erratic test results, failed to assign specific personnel to the Stennis projects and has presented problems in completing the tests.

Smith said he had received approval for his recommendation from the Federal Aviation Administration.

In addition, he recommended hiring Gulf States Laboratories, low bidder after Gulf Cities, to complete the tests.

The commission also authorized its attorneys Tuesday to notify Bond Paving, contractor on an apron expansion project at the airport, and the firm's bonding company that Bond will be held in default if the firm fails to complete repairs to the project within 10 days of notification.

The repairs include asphalt patching and the repaving of an area where diesel fuel was inadvertently mixed with asphalt when equipment malfunctioned.

The board also authorized the attorneys, Gerald Gex and Robert Genin, to handle legal negotiations with Bergeron Marine.

Bergeron Marine has a lease-purchase agreement with the county concerning property at Port Bienville Industrial Park, but the firm recently declared Chapter Seven bankruptcy, Commission Director James DeBlanc reported.

In addition, the commission approved setting up a short-term loan account to pay interest on Economic Development Authority-funded projects at the airport.

DeBlanc said the temporary account will be needed because some of the interest is due next month but EDA funds are not expected to be available until January 1985.

The board of supervisors approved the account.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to the Bay St. Louis community for their participation and attendance at the retirement and appreciation program held in my honor Friday, Nov. 9, 1984.

Sincerely,
DOUGLAS J. WILLIAMS

In other business, the commission accepted a bid of $214,290 from Southland Enterprises on the construction of a sewage treatment plant; approved an advertisement for bids for engineering services on a Housing and Urban Development project at Stennis; and approved the 1982-83 audit of the commission's finances.

The commission also granted an easement for a natural gas pipeline to be constructed by Celleron Oil Company at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

Christmas checks mailed

Over $82,000 in Christmas Club checks have been mailed out to Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Christmas Club members.

David A. Treutel, president of Peoples Federal, urges Christmas shoppers to "shop Hancock County first."

"With all the beautiful new shops in Hancock County there is an abundance of Christmas gifts available close to home," he said.

"Save time and gas. And the sales tax you pay in Hancock County comes right back to benefit you and your community," Treutel added.

All indications point to a more profitable year's end for merchants, and part of this is fueled by the Christmas Clubs which have proved to be so successful over the years; the financial executive feels.

Treutel added that, "Christmas Club accounts for 1985 should be started as soon as possible."

Quotables by CUEVAS

In recent weeks we have noted an increase in the number of persons fishing from the US-90 bridge over the Bay of St. Louis.

Fishing has been good and some nice catches have been made for those lucky enough to be there at the right time.

A problem we have noted on the bridge is the increased amount of trash fish being left to litter the highway.

The stickers from catfish can very easily puncture the tire of an auto.

It is our understanding that citations can be issued to persons for leaving these dead fish on the highway bridge.

It would not take too much effort for fishermen to discard overboard unwanted fish. This sure would make the bridge's appearance much improved.

We hope the fish keep biting and wish everyone luck.

Today the Great American Smokeout is being celebrated throughout our country.

The American Cancer Society suggests non-smokers should adopt a friend and try and help them get through the day without a cigarette. Getting by one day without a cigarette may help a person to give cigarettes up for good.

Many of us are affected even by the smoke from other people's cigarettes, and we were one of those hooked on smoking for many years.

We never thought we could quit, but with willpower, anyone can stop smoking.

We never knew how good food tasted until we gave up smoking.

Good luck to everyone who gives up smoking.

Hancock General Hospital has an open house today with 'Discovering Diabetes' as its theme from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Things available at the open house will include free blood glucose testing, food samples, films, nutritional counseling and various pamphlets. The special day is sponsored by HGH's patient education and dietary departments.

This would be a good time for residents to get a free glucose testing and general information on diabetes.

Also on Saturday HGH will sponsor a Christmas arts and crafts bazaar on the hospital's grounds.

There will be all types of homemade and handmade items for sale and may be a good way to help solve the purchase of some Christmas presents.

Proceeds from the bazaar will go towards HGH's beautification fund.

High school football will still be active this weekend with several bowl games.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will appear in the annual Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl Saturday at Hancock North Central.

The Rock-A-Chaws will meet Pearl River Central's Blue Devils.

Stanislaus started out real good this season and then faltered a bit, and rebounded as the regular season ended.

It should be a very good game and we hope there will be many Hancock Countians in the Hawk Stadium for the 7 p.m. kickoff.

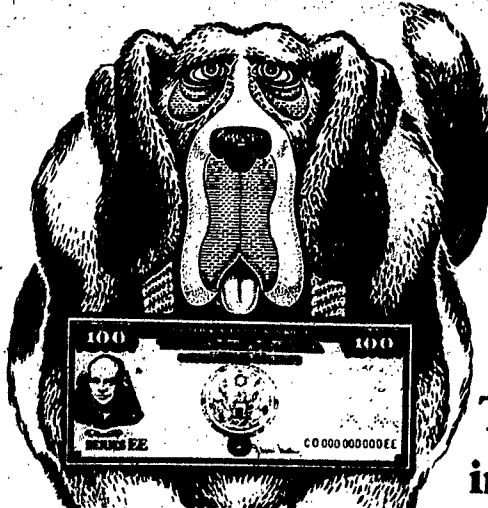

Across the Bay, Pass Christian's Pirates will meet the St. John Eagles in the first annual Gridiron Bowl Saturday.

The new bowl game will be played at Pirate Stadium and should also draw a large crowd.

The Pirates began to roll after a weak start and have played some very good football the later two-thirds of the season.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. for the Gridiron Bowl.

Life Saver

Take stock in America.

TAKE A DAY OFF...

...from smoking. Join the Great American Smokeout on Thursday, November 15. Millions of Americans across the country will make a fresh start and try not to smoke for 24 hours. How about you? Or, if you don't smoke, adopt a smoker for the day and promise to help that friend get through the 24 hours without a cigarette!

A few "quit tips"

Hide all ashtrays, matches, etc.
Lay in a supply of sugarless gum, carrot sticks, etc.
Drink lots of liquids, but pass up coffee & alcohol.
Tell everyone you're quitting for the day.
When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath, hold it for 10 seconds, & release it slowly.
Exercise to relieve the tension.
Try the "buddy system," and ask a friend to quit too.

Waveland vacationer commends public safety, utility service rendered in emergency

November 9, 1984
Sea Coast Echo
Letter to the Editor

I am a renter of a home on Jeff Davis in Waveland. On the night of Nov. 4 about midnight the electric power wire to the house caught on fire.

The explosion and cracking was similar to a gigantic fireworks display.

The fire was ten feet from my bedroom. I awakened my family and we evacuated the house, and drove to the police and fire stations.

The police and firemen followed us back to the house, went over the grounds, disconnected electrical circuits, lit candles and were very helpful and considerate of our misfortune.

They stayed with us until the Mississippi Power Company serviceman arrived about 2 a.m. He also assured us that we were in no danger and worked diligently until 5 a.m. to restore electrical service.

I wish to commend and thank the men of the Police and Fire Departments of Waveland, and the gentleman who repaired the line from Mississippi Power Company. It isn't often these days that we have the opportunity to publicly express gratitude for the help and cooperation shown.

Sincerely,

Decorations could help bolster a sagging holiday spirit

Dear Sea Coast Echo,
I feel I really needed to write this letter.

It's about people in general decorating for holiday big or small ones, such as Christmas, Thanksgiving, Halloween, Easter, and all the others.

Use to be you could see for Christmas people would have wreaths on every door and lights on their houses and sometimes things in their front yards.

But, it seems like people are losing all their spirit for all holidays!

I understand some people have lots of problems. But, it won't hurt them to get into holiday spirit, it may even help.

I'm sure you've heard of "The Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens!

So please everyone think about this, it doesn't cost that much for the stuff to make a wreath or paper decorations!

Sincerely,
Betty Caldwell

EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY

"Has the drum roll of criticism about our public schools left you with the sinking feeling that the public sector can't do anything right? If so, be of good cheer. There are healthy signs in the land."

That comment was made not too long ago by Denis P. Doyle, director of education policies at the American Enterprise Institute in Washington.

Doyle used the statement as an introduction to his report in the Wall Street Journal relative to the creation of a public boarding school in North Carolina, the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics.

The writer called the 400-student high school in Durham, N.C., "the most promising experiment in public schooling in many years" in America.

He also pointed out that the school, which offers classes to juniors and seniors, produced 163 national Merit Semifinalists in its first three years.

Doyle suggested that the school has been successful because it has borrowed freely from its competitors—the private schools.

For example, the school is governed by an independent board, and it is exempt from many of the restrictive public school regulations.

Half the members of the faculty hold doctorates, not because the salary structure is different from that of other public schools, but because the school is permitted to employ "uncertified" teachers; that is, teachers who haven't completed the state-required education courses.

Concludes Doyle, "...the school is not trapped in the procedural and bureaucratic morass that saps the energies of so many teachers at other public schools."

This brief view of the North Carolina experiment is important to Mississippians because Mississippi is considering the creation of the Mississippi School for Math and Science, a school patterned after the North Carolina model. Creation of such a school in the 1985 legislative session could bring additional recognition in education to Mississippi, as did the Education Reform Act of 1982.

Interesting to note is the fact that the first chairman of the North Carolina school is Dr. D.W. Colvard, former president of Mississippi State University.

The writer called the 400-student high school in Durham, N.C., "the most promising experiment in public schooling in many years" in America.

He also pointed out that the school, which offers classes to juniors and seniors, produced 163 national Merit Semifinalists in its first three years.

Dear Sir,

For over a decade I have served on the board of trustees of a home for abused and neglected girls and boys located just outside Las Vegas.

The children there have an unusual project each year recycling old Christmas cards from which they earn extra pocket money, a project I hope you can help them with by alerting your readers to save the fronts of attractive religious cards to send to St. Jude's Ranch for Children, P.O. Box 985, Boulder City, Nev. 89005-0985.

If you need additional information about this home, just write its director, the Reverend Herbert A. Ward Jr., SSC.

I am sure Father Ward will be happy to send you whatever materials you might be interested in having.

And I am equally certain he will be grateful to receive the used Christmas card fronts from your readers (and even a donation to help feed and clothe his youngsters if your readers are so inclined).

I appreciate your help in this appeal, and I know the children will love you for it.

Sincerely,
Ed McMahon

AUTOPSY

Q: I can understand why an autopsy would be required in the case of a death that may have resulted from a crime, but why would the doctor want to autopsy someone like my father who died of a heart attack?

A: Postmortem examinations may be done for medical and/or legal reasons. In addition to situations defined in law such as death by violence, chemical or electrical agent, unrecognized disease, injury or infection related to occupation, autopsy is considered on any patient who dies in a hospital under the care of a physician.

All aspects of a patient's disease are seldom self-evident. As a result, even when the death is anticipated, physicians almost always have questions. Autopsy can provide answers. The most useful information may be the exact cause of death. However, someone who dies of heart disease, for example, also may have another unsuspected disease which was never apparent.

The autopsy is the final medical audit. It is the last chance to fully document a patient's medical history, possibly uncovering a disease that might have some genetic basis. The family's practical self-interest may thus be served by agreeing to a physician's request for an autopsy.

Autopsies provide the most conclusive documentation of disease which forms the most reliable and rational basis for public health decisions. They give physicians and medical students in-depth knowledge about a disease process. Despite these benefits, the number of autopsies is declining. Less than 15 years ago, families of half of all patients who died in hospitals gave permission for autopsies. Today, the figure is estimated to be between 15 and 20 percent or less in many cases.

A number of reasons account for the change. Sophisticated x-ray scanners, endoscopes, and other technological advances have led some physicians to view the autopsy as unnecessary. Nevertheless, a recent study reported in the New England Journal of Medicine found that a major clinical diagnosis was overlooked in as many as one-fourth of autopsied patients.

The public has the most to gain from the autopsy, and it, too, must bear some responsibility for the decline. Often, families are deterred from requesting an autopsy, or from cooperating with a physician's request, because they misunderstand the nature of the procedure. Some fear "mutilation" of the deceased's body, that the patient has "suffered enough," or that no useful purpose can be served.

Better communication about the autopsy and its results could reassure relatives. Autopsies, performed with care and respect in clinical settings, allow the patient who has died to make a last request to science and his family.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

HARVEST DINNER—Mary Breath, right, and Leon-tine DeRocha reminisce in Mrs. Breath's kitchen about the first Episcopal Harvest Dinner which was prepared and served from this kitchen 36 years ago. The original dinner, sponsored by the Christ Episcopal Church, featured Hungarian goulash and more than 250 persons were served for only $1 each. This year the 37th Harvest Dinner will be served from Virginia Hall at Christ Episcopal Church from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 15. The pre-Thanksgiving dinner of turkey and the trimmings is available for a $5 donation. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Founder recalls beginnings of Episcopal Harvest Dinner

Some 36 years ago, when Charles R. Johnson first came to Bay St. Louis as rector of Christ Episcopal Church, a tradition was born in the kitchen of Charles and Mary Breath on North Beach Boulevard.

The women of the church prepared and served a fund-raising dinner for 250 people, and every harvest season since then mouthwatering Thanksgiving specialties have been something to look forward to at the annual Episcopal Harvest Dinner.

Mary Breath recalls the first one:

"It was close quarters in my kitchen," she says. "Virginia Watts, Hilda Sick, Tine DeRocha, Ann Porter, Jeannette Bontemps, Zedie Shardella and I did all the cooking."

"It was lovely weather, and people ate at tables on the back porch, in the house, and under the scupper-nong arbor. I remember that we used china we had borrowed from Mauffray's Hardware Store on the understanding that we would wash and return the dishes the next day. We served 250 people that night, and Zedie washed dishes practically all night long," Ms. Breath mused.

Tonight in Virginia Hall more than 400 will enjoy a pre-Thanksgiving feast.

No one will be washing dishes all night long, and many dinners will go out in heat-preserving styrofoam containers. Others will go into home freezers to be kept for Christmas.

Times have changed, but the essentials remain, increased to staggering proportions.

Twenty-four 23-pound turkeys will be baked or smoked and carved; four large kettles of Effie McCulloch's cranberry relish will simmer and cool; 350 sweet potatoes will be whipped; 100 pounds of spinach, 40 pounds of cream cheese, and ten pounds of butter will go into delectable spinach casserole.

Ten gallons of gravy will be ready; quantities of desserts and drinks will be prepared; and Pauline Sharping will single-handedly make cornbread dressing out of 200 cups of cornbread, 100 cups of French bread, 20 quarts of stock, 160 eggs, 40 bell peppers, 60 cups of onions and 50 cups of celery.

From 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. a $5 donation will provide a dinner to remember.

Co-chairmen for the event are Mary Golmon and Linda McCulloch. Proceeds will be used for the projects of the Women of Christ Episcopal Church.

Hancock Bank releases Christmas Club checks

Hancock Bank Christmas Club checks for about $1,734,000 were mailed to Christmas Club savers Nov. 8, according to Leo W. Seal Jr., bank president.

Totals mailed within listed communities include Pass Christian, $146,649; Long Beach, $151,309; Bay St. Louis, $228,812; Piquette, $185,103; and Poplarville, $52,156.

Seal commended savers in the club for continuing the practice of systematic savings programs.

"With almost $1,800,000 sent to more than 6,000 Christmas Club members throughout South Mississippi at this time, the money will add greatly to the local economy of every community in our area if Christmas shoppers buy at home," he noted.

He pointed out that savers in this year's program earned 5 percent interest per annum on their completed club accounts and said that interest is calculated from the date of deposit. He also explained that the method of Christmas Club savings inaugurated two years ago greatly simplifies account opening procedures for the 1985 club.

This marks the 71st year the club plan has been offered to South Mississippi residents by Hancock Bank. It was initiated on the Coast by the bank in 1914 and has continued annually, with the exception of World War I, when savings were converted for the purchase of Liberty Bonds.

Citing reasons why individuals use the Christmas Club plan, Seal said that "In addition to using the funds for Christmas gift buying, many club members use this systematic saving plan to purchase savings certificates, to start or add to savings accounts, for year-end taxes, bills, insurance premiums, and to add to college education saving programs for their children."

Christmas Club accounts are available in a wide variety of payment classes, he said from 50 cents to $10 a week, or for any combination of classes depending on the amount to be set aside for next Christmas.

The 1985 Christmas Club is now open at all Hancock Bank locations on the Coast, in Piquette and Poplarville, Seal said, and the program is starting early again this year to enable selected clubs to be completed in October for checks to be mailed in early November.

He pointed out that participants in the club program may also have payments deducted automatically from their checking account each month to apply to their Christmas Saving fund.

Walter R. Bivins, former longtime member and chairman of the Public Employees Retirement System of Mississippi, and president of the newly formed Mississippi Retired Public Employees' Association, stated: "The purpose of these district meetings is to make all state government retirees aware of an immediate goal to insure the protection of the assets of the system by a Constitutional amendment to be introduced at the 1985 session of the Mississippi Legislature."

Aldridge, Dr. Robert S. Brown, W.H. Cochran, P.L. Douglas, Mildred S. Farmer, W.R. Hough, John P. Camp, Jr., Hebert A. Ladner, Dr. Robert M. Mayo and Clinton Van Devender, board members.

The Constitutional amendment for the protection of the trust fund is being recommended by the Public Employees Retirement System of Mississippi.

Other state associations offering support are State Employees' Association, Association of Supervisors, American Association of Retired Person, Association of Educators, Municipal Association, Highway Safety Patrol Retired Association and Retired Teachers Association.

Rigby and Bullard jointly urge all retirees under the Mississippi Public Employees Retirement System, members of the state legislature and other city, county and state officials and employees and all other interested persons, to attend this meeting.

News Briefs

Hunters will face something new when they go deer hunting this year. They will need more hunter orange. on deer, deer hunters must wear at least 500 sq. inches of continuous, fluorescent daylight hunter orange while they are hunting.

The new regulation, which was passed by the five-member Commission on Wildlife Conservation in April, is designed to help further reduce accidents and fatalities as a result of hunters being mistaken for game.

Hunters given access to 30,000 IP acres

Sportsmen in Hancock County and Southeast Mississippi will have over 30,000 acres of International Paper Company land for managed hunting in Hancock County according to Charles R. Frye, IP land and timber manager.

These lands are being made available for hunting under International Paper's multiple-use forest management concepts and policies.

Many acres of company land are available to sportsmen in this area.

Local sportsmen, the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation, and International Paper Company have teamed together for the past several years to develop a productive hunting area in this county and other locations.

Forest and wildlife management practices, including prescribed burning, thinning, planting food plots, and game law enforcement are continually underway on these lands.

Almost 30,000 acres of prime habitat for deer, turkey, and other upland game have been placed in the program. Long-range plans include managed hunting and habitat improvement on this area.

"Season permits are available for the area at a cost of $15 for Mississippi residents, and $30 for out-of-state hunters," Frye stated.

Sportsmen may obtain a permit at Holcomb's One-Stop in Nicholson, S&H Grocery in Bay St. Louis, Pat's Short Stop in Waveland, Kent & Sue's Quick Stop in Lakeshore, Woods Grocery in Pearlington and Don & Sue Bone in Long Beach.

A valid state hunting license or other proof of residence is required for purchase of the permit.

Bay school board awards bid for computer system

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis School Board accepted a bid Monday for a computer system for the school district.

Wang Data Processing of Gulfport was the low bidder for the system with a bid of $36,655 for both hardware and software.

The system will be located in the central office at the high school. Budget, payroll, inventory, transportation data will be kept in the system as well as student registration information.

Another bid the board accepted was for insurance for the school system.

Bids were received from Hancock Insurance and Nationwide Insurance, both of Bay St. Louis.

Hancock Insurance had the low bid of $7,558 for annual premiums for vehicle, boiler and machines, and general liability insurance.

General liability insurance will cost $2,767; boiler and machines, $2,705; and vehicles, $2,086.

Following a motion by board member Margo Frommeyer the board authorized attorney Lucien Gex to offer Mrs. Warren Carver $21,000 for 3.08 acres of land that adjoins the North Bay School property.

Mrs. Carver's previous offer to sell the property to the school district for $35,000 had prompted the board to have the land surveyed.

Board-appointed surveyor Ames Kergosien appraised the land at $21,000.

The board took a bid under consideration for several items of surplus the school board has been trying to sell for several weeks.

The $10 bid prompted board members to plan an examination of the property to be sold.

Several board members expressed a desire to view the different items for sale before awarding the bid.

The use of school facilities was approved for three events, including the Mullet Bowl scheduled for tonight, a children's ballet planned in December and soccer practice.

Superintendent J. D. McCullough recommended that the board approve the requests as all three were in line with the policies and guidelines set up by the trustees in regards to the use of the facilities.

Supervisors help school district prepare for move

By DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph came one step closer to moving to a new office Wednesday, but it may be some time before he will be able to make any telephone calls from his new location.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors, which recently voted to allow the school district personnel to move from the county youth court building to a facility at Stennis Airport, accepted a bid Wednesday on partitions needed to divide the building's interior into offices.

However, the supervisors delayed discussing the purchase of a telephone system for the new school offices.

The supervisors said they prefer to wait to discuss the telephones until Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise, who was absent Wednesday, can be present, since the courthouse is also in need of telephones and the two purchases could possibly be handled at the same time.

Randolph said he wants the county to purchase the telephones in case the school offices have to be moved again. "We've moved three times already since I've been here," he explained.

He told the board he feels it would be more economical to move an existing telephone system if the offices are changed again rather than install a new system.

The partitions, which will be purchased from Office Supply company of Gulfport and will cost $14,143 with installation, will be used to divide the building at Stennis into a board room and 11 offices, Randolph said. The building presently has four offices and a large open area.

The date for the move has not been set, but Randolph said the building itself should be ready when the partitions have been installed.

In other business, the board discussed a grant application concerning the establishment of a harbor at Bayou Cadet with Jeff Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

Taylor told the board he hopes to set up a meeting between the supervisors and representatives of the Community Development Block Grant Program for December.

Taylor also reminded the board of a public hearing at 7 p.m. Nov. 20 at the courthouse. The harbor will be discussed as part of an 11-mile beachfront repair project and Taylor asked the board to attend.

In addition, Taylor asked that the board be represented at a Tuesday meeting at the Harrison County courthouse, where a tri-county hurricane damage project will be discussed.

The board approved paying 20 percent of the cost of a van for the county's senior citizens program; approved an advertisement for bids on automobile insurance for sheriff's department vehicles; and informed Malcolm Tullier of the Shoreline Park Civic Association that no progress has been made on a proposal to set speed limits on the county's dead-end bayous.

The supervisors also tabled a request for a speed limit reduction on a Jordan River Shores road; granted a tax exemption for 1985 to American Legion Post 77; and purchased a motor grader from Striling Equipment Company in Gulfport.

Our Center will be closed for Thanksgiving and the day after.

STAFF CHANGE
We will be losing Margaret Hicks, our site manager, this Friday. I know all of you will miss her after two years of wonderful service to all of us.

She is going to a full-time job with children of mothers who will be in GED classes and trying to get themselves ready to work. Good luck, Margaret! We will miss you.

BAZAAR
Thanks to so many of you, our bazaar was a big success. We all enjoyed the fellowship and did a lot of our Christmas shopping. Those of you who did not come by missed seeing some beautiful handwork and maybe saved a few pounds as the food was delicious.

NEW BUS

The Board of Supervisors approved sending match money for a new big bus (like our new blue bus). The only difference is that this bus will have a wheelchair lift.

We were in real need of another bus as our white buses were breaking down so often and we were afraid to venture very far from home.

Please, all of you, call your member of the Board of Supervisors and thank them for replacing our buses. We must remember to call in thanks and not just complaints. They really do such a super job of supporting our program, I feel very grateful—especially at this time of year.

TIGHT NERVES

This materialistic age is often blamed for all our frustrated ambitions and nervous tension. When the person becomes tense and overwhelmed with anxiety, he is urged to take tranquilizers or rest from work. But it is a hard and poor remedy to follow when you are tied up inside. Authorities in our field have found that nervousness creeps up on a person from the inside, and they usually blame outside conditions for causing them to be tense and over depressed. Studies indicate that there is a physical reason for nervousness, that it can and often does result from an interrupted nerve supply. This irritates the nervous system and slows down the life currents of the body. A chiropractic examination can detect an interruption in the nerve supply and proper care will aid in restoring normal nerve function, your peace of mind, and vigorous health again.

Rocks square off for Pearl River match

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The 10th annual Wendell Ladner Bowl scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 17 at the Hancock North Central Hawk Stadium is expected to be a heated high school football game.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-Chaws and the Pearl River Central Blue Devils will be vying for the trophy and the $1,000 prize to go to the winning team.

The Blue Devils and the Rocks have not faced each other yet this year and a good crowd is expected.

Rock Coach Vernon Powell said they have to play one of the best games they have played all year.

"We know right off the bat that the Blue Devils will be ready for us," he said.

Powell added that Pearl River had the advantage of being off last week and having the opportunity to watch the Rocks play.

"We are not planning to try anything different and just stay with what has worked for us all year," he said.

The Rocks will try and keep the Blue Devil offense off the field, Powell said.

"They have the capability of being very explosive if they get the opportunity," he noted.

Blue Devil Coach David Oakes said the Rocks are a little tougher team than the teams Pearl River has played this year.

"If we play well it will be a good ball game, if not they will walk all over us," Oakes said.

Stanislaus has a real fine football team and have really come around in the last half of the season, Oakes said.

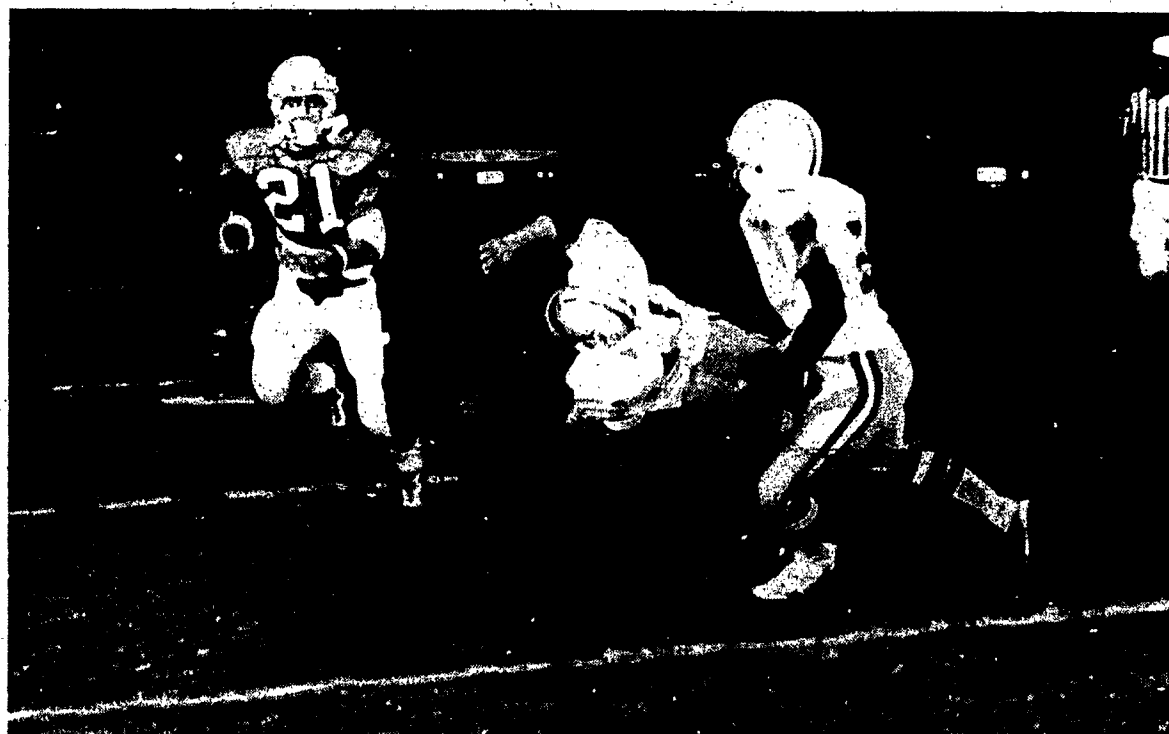

Tickets for the game are on sale at both schools scheduled to play and at North Hancock Central. Pre-game tickets cost $3 for students and adults and all tickets will be $4 at the gate.

Kickoff will be at 7 p.m.

SURPRISE VISITOR—Hillary Wright, center, former Pass Christian Junior High coach and currently a science teacher at Byron High in Jackson, paid a surprise visit to Pirate Stadium Friday to see his brother Alton Wright, left, coach the 1984 Pirates to a 27-6 victory over Long Beach and earn a berth in the first annual Gridiron Bowl Saturday. Also welcoming the visitor who coached in the Pass school system from 1963 to 1967 is Superintendent of Schools Leroy Lizana, right. The Pirates in Saturday's bowl will square off against the St. John Eagles of Gulfport who bested Bay High 14-6 last week. Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m. in Pirate Stadium where pre-game festivities are to begin at 7 p.m. (Echo Sports photo by Edgar Perez)

AVOIDING TACKLE—St. Stanislaus running back Todd Thriffley (21) swings out to avoid a Vancleave defensive player. Pirates and Eagles to clash Saturday

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Pass Christian Pirates and the St. John Eagles will square off Saturday night for the first annual Gridiron Bowl.

The game will be played in the Pirate Stadium. Gametime is 7:30 p.m.

This matchup is expected to be explosive as both teams have had a winning season and are coming into the bowl game off strong wins in their final game of the regular season.

The last meeting of these coastal rivals was in 1978 when the Pirates took a decisive win over the Eagles.

Both Pirate coach Alton Wright and Eagle Coach Mike Gavin said they are expecting a good game.

"The Eagles do not make a lot of mistakes on offense or defense and we are going to have to contain their quarterback," Wright said.

He added that the Pirates were not planning to make many changes, just go in and play a hardnosed football game.

Wright also mentioned the Eagle kicker, Justin Courtney who kicked a 47-yard field goal against Forest County this season.

The Eagles have won their last five games and have averaged to score approximately 14 points per game this season while only giving up about eight points per game.

Gavin said the defense has been the strongpoint of their game this year.

"So far this year, our defense has scored eight touchdowns on interceptions and punt returns," Gavin added.

"We know this will be a real good football game and the Pirates will be very good opponents," he said.

Both schools will have a court of royalty for the game and a queen from each school will be announced at halftime.

Tigers lose to St. John, end '84 with 5-5 record

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers finished their season with a 14-6 loss to the St. John Eagles Saturday night.

The loss gave the Tigers a 5-5 record for 1984, with wins against Vancleave, St. Stanislaus, Long Beach, East Central and Hancock North Central.

The St. Stanislaus and Hancock North Central victories gave Bay High the county championship.

Three Tiger losses to Stone County, Pass Christian and Pearl River Central opened the season, with losses to St. Martin and St. John coming at the season's end.

"We played .500 ball, which showed a good effort by a group of boys who had to get themselves together after three losses at the beginning of the season," said Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

"We were expecting a lot from our young athletes after we turned our program around," he said. "We hurt ourselves with a few of the changes we made to strengthen our offensive play, but in the final analysis, we feel it paid off."

Williams, a former Bay Junior High coach in his first season with the high school, said he gives much of the credit for the season's outcome to his two assistant coaches, Gary Griffin and G.L. McRaney.

"They took a big load off my shoulders this first season by taking over some of the responsibilities on game night," he explained.

"Also, our season wouldn't have worked out as well as it did if we hadn't had athletes who were winners. They were always willing to work hard as a team."

"God kept us together through this season and gave us the courage we needed to come back when we were down. We also had some loyal supporters who followed us to every game and we want to thank them because they were good for the team's morale," Williams added.

Although he usually emphasizes team effort rather than individual players, Williams named seven players as season standouts.

Included are four players, Trace McRaney, Eddie Nelson, Jerry Head and Jeffery Smith, who were named All-Conference Monday.

McRaney's work this season included 145 tackles, with 25 unassisted; five pass interceptions and one touchdown.

Nelson, a Tiger receiver, caught 29 passes for 501 yards and was credited for four interceptions and six touchdowns.

Head's season included 71 assisted tackles and nine unassisted tackles. He punted 25 times for an average of 40 yards and averaged 57 yards on kick-offs.

Smith, the Tiger quarterback, had 1,302 total yards gained by passing, 518 yards rushing, six interceptions and nine touchdowns. He was the team's leading scorer with 54 points for the season.

Three Tiger players were selected by the conference for honorable mention. They include Richard Whavers, who had five touchdowns, 35 assisted tackles and 15 unassisted tackles; Kevin James, who had 38 assisted tackles and eight unassisted tackles; and Greg Necalse, who had 52 assisted tackles and 12 unassisted tackles.

"There are others who were important to us who I wish could have more recognition, like Dennis Dear who always gave 100 percent; Stace McRaney, an outstanding kicker; or Matt Fairconnetus, a good receiver and outside linebacker," the coach added.

On Saturday night, however, there were few standouts in the game against St. Martin.

The Tigers opened the scoring for the night with a touchdown on a pass from Smith to Nelson with 7:33 left in the first quarter.

An extra point attempt failed and the score stood at 6-0 until the last quarter of the game.

With 5:03 in the fourth quarter, St. John scored a touchdown on a short run and followed up with a successful extra point attempt, turning the score to 7-6.

The Tigers were unable to keep control of the ball long enough to get in a scoring position and handed it back to the Eagles.

The Eagles scored again, this time on a pass play, with 1:16 to go in the game. An extra point kick brought the final score to 14-6.

"The final game of the season was a hard one to lose," Williams said, "but we had a lot of mental breakdowns and were very prone to penalties. Our defense played a rugged game, but we couldn't stop St. John once their drive got started."

HOLE HUNTING—Pass Christian Pirate sophomore quarterback John W. Dedeaux (10) looks for running room in Friday's Pass-Long Beach contest in which the Pirates were victorious by a 27-6 margin. Pass will

Gun hunters to stalk white-tails Saturday

Saturday is the opening of the gun season on white-tailed deer.

This first gun season will continue for 16 days, ending Saturday, Dec. 1. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset.

During this first gun season all 63 counties will be open for deer hunting with the aid of dogs.

Only bucks with antlers visible above the hairline will be legal during this season. The bag limit will be one buck per day. Hunters are permitted only five legal bucks during the license year.

State wildlife officials in Jackson say that all hunters, except those exempt under state law, must purchase a hunting license and have it on their person while hunting.

Anyone operating a deer camp during an open season must obtain a camp permit from the Department of Wildlife Conservation before beginning operation.

Resident hunters may purchase a Sportsman's license for $25, or an all game hunting and fishing license for $15.

Game biologists are optimistic that this will be another good year for deer hunting in the Mississippi Delta. They say that an expanding deer herd and another good year for most predators should mean for thing to many outdoorsmen—hunting. And there is plenty going on.

"The season on snipe begins Nov. 10 and continues through Feb. 24. Snipe are small migratory birds usually taken while hunting in marsh country."

The second dove season closes Nov. 14, and bowhunting for deer ends Nov. 14.

While Thanksgiving Day means turkey to most people, hunters know it means the beginning of the season for deer and snipe.

For more information on hunting regulations, contact the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation, 1000 North Third Street, Jackson, Miss. 39201.

Bernard Construction takes 2 of 3 in Mississippi Youth Soccer Festival

Bernard Construction Under-10 Royal Knights traveled to Pearl last weekend to compete in the 1984 MYSA Fall Soccer Festival.

The first game matched the Royal Knights with the Greenville Bullets. Greenville was outclassed as Scott Pepperman, Danny Harvill, Beau Schindler and Richard Watson scored eight goals assisted by Zack Corbell, Scott Gelpi, Bert Courrage and John Peterson.

The second game was with the Laurel Strikers. Despite the improved field play of Steven Sones, Chris Russ and Michael Benvenuti, the Royal Knights fell 5-3 with the winning margin being two penalty shots.

Harvill scored one goal for the Knights on a perfect crossover pass from Austin Schmelzer. Pepperman added two more.

Sunday morning saw the Royal Knights matched with the Meridian Cobras. The Knights scored early in the match and with fine defensive play by Brett Ladner, Shawn Keener, Schindler and Scott Emmel, held on to win 1-0.

The teamwork and outstanding play of each player earned Bernard Construction a fifth place finish in a very competitive Under-10 Division. Dynamite Plays in Slidell.

Dillman, Inc.'s "Dynamite" suffered another 3-0 loss to the Gators of Slidell.

Again plagued by a shortage of players "Dynamite" recruited an Under-10 player, Renee LeBourgeois, to fill the roster.

LeBourgeois played the entire game for her team. Gifts-n-Gold Nuggets, and then played the whole game as halfback with "Dynamite."

"She was a great asset to our team," said Coach Kathy Edwards.

"She played an excellent game!" Goalie Susanna Cameron stopped some very difficult shots and limited scoring to the first quarter, the coach noted.

The forward line of Cindy Minnhert, Jennifer Carter and Kim Manieri showed great teamwork in their passing and attacking game, but were stopped from scoring by outstanding defense by the Gators, she added.

More hunter orange required

Mississippi deer hunters will be doing something slightly different than last year: They will be wearing more hunter orange.

In an effort to further reduce accidents and fatalities as a result of hunters being mistaken for game, the Department of Wildlife Conservation is requiring deer hunters to wear at least 500 sq. inches of unbroken, continuous daylight fluorescent hunter orange material during any open gun season on deer.

Department enforcement officers say they are happy to see the regulation which makes it tougher for hunters to take off their orange when they are hunting, and then quickly put it on when they see an officer approaching.

Agency hunter safety officials say there is no doubt that hunter education and the orange requirement that the state has had for over 10 years has saved lives.

Figures show that during the 1972-73 hunting season, there were 34 fatalities during the hunting season. From 1977 until now, this fatality has been reduced to about six per year. The increased hunter orange requirement should help do more to save additional lives and prevent hunters from accidentally getting shot.

CASTIN' ABOUT

SPOON-FEED BASS IN HEAVY VEGETATION

A bass fisherman ought to know how to "spoon-feed" bass, with spoon-type lures, that is.

There are two basic types of spoons for use in bass fishing. One is the jugging spoon, a deep water lure that we'll cover in a future tip. This time, let's talk about the swimming spoon, something I'll be using along the Red Man Tournament Trail.

This lure, such as the Johnson Silver Minnow, looks a lot like a kitchen spoon without the handle, but with an upturned hook on one end. It's used to fish various kinds of heavy vegetation.

Undoubtedly, there have been more big bass caught from the grassy Florida lakes on a silver spoon with a white skirt than any other lure. I was able to use this combination in 1982 to set a world record for a one-day, seven-bass limit in a tournament with seven fish weighing 36 pounds, 12 ounces.

On that occasion I was fishing flooded peppergrass in Florida's Lake Okechobee. The grass was barely under the surface. The technique I used was to throw by Ron Shearer, the Red Man Fisherman Three Time National Champion and World Record Holder for The Largest Daily Tournament Catch the spoon into the grass and then pull it through the vegetation with a slow, wobbling retrieve. The fish would swim up and just suck it in.

I first started working the grass with a half-ounce spoon and three-inch skirt. The first bass that hit was about a seven-pounder that just took hold of the skirt and spit it back at the boat.

Because it seemed the fish were short-striking, I cut the skirt down to only about an inch long. The very next cast, I caught an 8-14.

In your fishing, pay close attention to what is happening. Bass fishing is a common sense sport. If you're catching fish, don't think you're doing something wrong. But when conditions dictate, make a change — like shortening the trailer on your spoon if the bass tend to nip the tail end of the bait.

Keep this in mind at the next stop on the Red Man Tournament Trail. Until next time, this is Ron Shearer.

Smokeout help line available

Smokers who need help to break the cigarette habit for the Great American Smokeout can call 1-900-210-KWIT.

The special telephone service will be available for only 72 hours—on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 14, 15 and 16.

Eight facilitators of the American Cancer Society's Fresh Start program will offer suggestions which may make it easier for you to stay away from cigarettes. All speak from experience because they are each former smokers.

For 50 cents per call, the telephone company will connect you with a one-minute recorded message. Each message will play continuously for one hour. Every hour, on the hour, a new voice, with new hints for quitting, will be heard.

The American Cancer Society's KWIT line was instituted as a new dimension to the 1983 Great American Smokeout. The success of the 900 number and the fact that it offered help to smokers trying to give up cigarettes for the 24-hour Smokeout, prompted the society to provide the service again for Smokeout, 1984.

CALENDAR SALE—Hancock County Girl Scouts, from left, Ruie Heard, Bernadette Carr and Marcie Mitchell, show official Girl Scout calendars on sale until the end of November throughout the county. Wall calendars cost $2 and pocket calendars are available for $1.50. For additional information call Philomena Carr, 467-1547 or Crystal Burrows, 533-7886. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Marine Pfc. Eric W. Piernas, son of Robbye E. Piernas of 3534 Cochran Ave., Los Angeles, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot Parris Island, S.C.

Piernas received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the 11-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork.

A 1984 graduate of Pass Christian High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1984.

PERSONALIZED HOLIDAY CARDS

This year, why not show your originality and creativity by making unique, personally designed holiday cards—for only 7¢ to 15¢ apiece? All you need to get started is a design and a greeting... pasted up on a master card.

First, using India ink, draw (or trace from a favorite old greeting card) a design on a 5-1/2" X 8-1/2" piece of quality white bond paper, leaving a half-inch border around the sheet. Next, print or write your seasonal message in India ink on a separate piece of the same size of paper... or type your greeting or cut out a black-and-white one from an old card (to paste or tape onto the bond paper). When the design and greeting are set, have all the family members sign their names below the message.

Now take out an 8-1/2" X 11" matting board, which can be purchased from a craft or art supply shop, and paste your design and message onto it. With a light blue pencil (its color won't reproduce when photographed), trace a half-inch border around the board. That done, figure out where—inside that blue boundary—you want to place your artwork and calligraphy. You might want to put the drawing at the top of the board, with the message directly below the center (and folding) line of the mat. That way, you can have your cards printed on heavy bond, fold them over and close them with a Christmas seal, and use the back side of the cards for addresses and stamps. To create conventional cards with the design outside and the writing inside (which will cost a little more at the printer's and will also require envelopes), paste the drawing on one 8-1/2" X 11" board and the message on another.

Once you've decided how to arrange your card, use a ruler to make sure everything is centered and aligned pleasingly. Secure each piece with clear plastic tape, being careful not to cover any of the inked parts. You can use glue for this job, but tape is neater. Finish by erasing any stray pencil marks and covering any smudges with typewriter correction fluid.

Finally, take your finished work to your local printer and, with his or her help, settle upon paper (size, tint, and weight), ink color, and prices. An 8-1/2" X 11" original can be photographed and reproduced on practically any size or shade of paper in just about whatever hue of ink you like. However, black ink on white paper is the least expensive—so you might choose to brighten up your creations with watercolors or felt-tipped pens after you get them home.

Holiday seasons are busy at printshops, so it's wise to make arrangements early to avoid the rush. If you do, it'll probably take two or three days to have your order completed.

Besides being inexpensive, cards like these will carry your personal message to the homes of your friends... and you'll escape the flurry of shoppers thronging the greeting-card stores!

Your Stars Above

BY EVE EWING

ARIES (3-21/4-19) Sometimes you set a pace it is hard to keep up with, and find yourself at the finish line all alone—and lonely. You can afford to slow down and smell the roses occasionally.

TAURUS (4-20/5-20) Because you do your dreaming in secret, you are often thought to be cold and unimaginative. Share yourself with those who care. You won't regret it.

GEMINI (5-21/6-20) You are too outgoing to become seriously involved with a loner. While opposites attract, they don't usually form lasting ties. Life on a desert island is not for you.

CANCER (6-21/7-22) A tendency to hang on too tightly could bring you much grief. Look closely at a current situation, and see if it is not time to let it go while you can still be friends.

LEO (7-23/8-22) A strong intellect and equally strong emotions make you a fascinating person, but only as long as you keep both traits in balance. Don't drift into fanaticism.

VIRGO (8-23/9-22) Your own superb logic often leads you into undue criticism of those less gifted. The trick is to use your keen mind, but without boasting, or contempt for others.

LIBRA (9-23/10-22) No one is better at understanding the feelings and viewpoint of others, a fact that leads you into the sometimes unsought role of mediator between opposing sides. Accept gracefully.

SCORPIO (10-23/11-21) An uncanny sixth sense about coming events is often misunderstood by those close to you. Although a useful trait, don't ride your hunches without candid examination.

SAGITTARIUS (11-22/12-21) Lady Luck is your boon companion, but she could use some help from you. Luck may not always be enough to forgive a life of broken dates and missed deadlines.

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19) Pleasure is as much a part of life as toil, and is no sin. Loosen up and enjoy your hard-won fortune. Share with those dear to you. You are in no danger of becoming a dilettante.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-18) Flitting from one relationship to another, and one fad to another keeps you somewhat detached from deep personal ties. That's okay for awhile, but give thought to slowing up.

PISCES (2-19/3-20) Although a cause you cared deeply about went down to defeat, don't despair. With people as dedicated as you, it will rise to fight another day, and the next time, it will prevail.

PRC masonry class commended

The Phi Theta Kappa Iota Mu Chapter of Pearl River College has developed a tutoring program that will provide academic assistance to PRC students.

According to Phi Theta Kappa reports, the services are free and available for the asking.

Tutors will be located in three general areas on campus and will be on hand to help students who need special attention. Tutor stations include the library, the science building and the dormitories.

Library hours are set from 5:30 to 9 p.m. every Monday through Thursday. The tutoring procedure for the library will be as follows:

—Tutors will be located in a centralized area in the library and will study their own work until needed for help.

—When a student needs help, the student may ask for the tutor's assistance.

Dormitory meetings are on a more relaxed basis, reports said, but have been successful.

Tutoring services in science labs are the most time consuming but the individual attention can prevent accidents from occurring in the lab due to inexperience.

According to the report, fees are not charged because Phi Theta Kappa is an organization designed to help others. The club does not want to deprive an individual needing help due to his financial situation, and the program is set up to give the assistance when needed rather than to measure services by the amount of time they take.

'Spirit Spectacular' set Saturday

A variety of planned activities will be on tap for an estimated 2,000 high school and junior college students expected to participate in the University of Southern Mississippi's 'Spirit Spectacular' program Saturday, Nov. 17.

Visiting students will get an opportunity to take a first-hand look at life on the USM campus during the ninth annual event, which is the university's 'high school day.'

In addition to receiving information about enrolling at USM, visitors will take part in a Golden Eagle pep rally in preparation for the university's season football finale against Louisville at 6 p.m. 'Southern Exposure,' USM's entertainment group, also will perform for the visitors.

The day's activities will get underway at 1:30 p.m. with welcoming remarks by Dr. Clyde Ginn, executive assistant to USM President Aubrey K. Lucas; Joe Paul, dean of student development; and 'Spirit Spectacular' coordinator Martha Vardaman of the university's Office of High School and Junior College Relations.

The 'Southern Exposure' performance, the awarding special door prizes, a discussion of USM athletics by head basketball coach M.K. Turk and the Golden Eagle pep rally will precede a scheduled 2:45 p.m. tour of the university campus conducted by 'Southern Style' members.

Free soft drinks, potato chips and tickets to the USM/Louisville game will be distributed during a special 'Southern Hospitality Fair' set for 3 p.m.

High school and junior college counselors planning to attend the event with groups from their respective schools are urged to contact the Office of High School and Junior College Relations at USM by calling (601) 266-5000 or the toll-free number 1-800-222-1601 for Mississippi schools only.

Club provides tutoring

Dr. M.R. White, president of Pearl River College, has commended the masonry class, in cooperation with the maintenance department, for the excellent work they have been doing on campus.

Masonry and maintenance are responsible for the new concrete slab around the bell gazebo and the sidewalks leading from the frontage row to the student center.

When new projects or repairs are needed on campus, the masonry class works under the direction of Charles Rester, masonry instructor. "These projects give the students incentive and the opportunity to get on the job training. They can take pride in their work, knowing they can look back in 50 years and see where they began," said Rester.

The Beautification Committee of Poplarville is presently raising money to do a facelift downtown. The project will involve bricklaying the sidewalks. Again, the masonry class will be doing the work.

"All projects are good," said Rester, "but it is especially gratifying to help, along with maintenance, to improve our campus."

I'M ALERT EVERY SECOND I'M ON THE JOB. BECAUSE IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

My job? I guess you could call it trouble-shooting. You see, I monitor equipment operations at Plant Daniel. And whether I'm at the control panel or making an on-site inspection, I have to be aware of everything that's going on throughout the system.

With the quality of our equipment, we don't get many problems that we can't handle. But we don't take anything for granted. We're on watch twenty-four hours a day.

If there's trouble—or potential trouble—I want to spot it and deal with it before it can interrupt productivity. We keep the turbines humming—and the electricity flowing to our customers.

What does it take to do my job? Experience and constant training. Alertness. And a knowledge of the system that gives you something like a sixth sense about what each individual piece of equipment is doing at all times. I really feel I'm making a difference at Mississippi Power.

TIMBERLINE

By David Watts
Hancock County Forester

I read a tale the other day about a home owner who bought a wood-burning heater, and after the first season, complained to the dealer that his unit burned twice as much wood as other people claimed theirs did. The quick-thinking dealer told the disgruntled customer that he should do like everyone else—lie!

The truth is that the use of firewood has increased dramatically since skyrocketing fuel prices and the perfection of efficient wood heaters combined to make wood a viable, low cost alternative fuel.

In fact, of the 10 quadrillion BTU's of energy now used annually by U.S. households, about one quadrillion are supplied by wood! A total of 14.4 million people in this country use firewood; it's the primary heat source for 4.6 million people. If the nation's annual consumption of 50 million cords of firewood were to be stacked four feet high by 18 inches wide, it would form a wall that would girdle the world eight times!

Some people wonder if increased use of wood for fuel will deplete our forest resources. After all, this has caused very serious problems in many underdeveloped countries, especially in parts of Africa and Asia. According to the U.S. Forest Service there's almost no chance of this happening in America. A recent survey reveals that the volume of wood suitable for firewood in our forests is 10 times the volume used at present.

Firewood cutting, if conducted properly, is actually beneficial for it promotes the use of low quality material that was once wasted. Additionally, removal of these trees makes room for better, more valuable trees.

Much has been written about fire hazards associated with wood-burning, and most homeowners are well aware of the need for caution. But there are a couple of other potential problems associated with firewood that should be mentioned too, namely;

1. Never burn treated wood. A common wood preservative contains copper, chromium and arsenic, which when burned, can release a toxic gas. In fact, some injuries have been caused recently by burning treated wood.

2. Firewood can also bring insects into your house. A few simple precautions can prevent this. Cut firewood in the fall, or early spring when insects are inactive. Since insects are attracted to wet wood, it should be split right away to promote drying, and kept covered. Never store more than two weeks worth of firewood in the house.

By obeying a few common-sense precautions you can enjoy the money-saving comfort of a cozy wood fire.

Dutch Eyes on Mississippi

A wartime incident 40 years ago brought three Dutch visitors to Mississippi this month. And after two weeks of exposure to the Magnolia State, these Dutch observers find the Mississippi River overwhelmingly fascinating due to its awesome size and character.

Bernard, Geurtje and Geert van der Laan live in Apeldoorn, Holland—called "the pearl of Holland"—because of the beauty of the landscape in and around their city which lies about an hour's train ride east of Amsterdam. From their background in a land laced with dikes, canals and reclaimed sea bottoms, these Dutch visitors find the Mississippi River of incomparable interest.

Bernard van der Laan became known to a Mississippi farm family when, 20 months after the famed "Bridge Too Far" Allied paratroop strike to capture bridges across the Rhine River at Arnhem and Nijmegen, he discovered the body of Mississippi paratrooper Elmer Baker of Hinds and Lincoln Counties.

He found the name and address of Pvt. Baker's wife on the body and wrote her regarding the discovery. Then he interred the body and awaited further instructions from the family and U.S. military authorities. Subsequently the body was returned to Mississippi for interment at Brookhaven.

Members of the Baker family have kept in touch with the van der Laan family over the years with a dream of ultimately meeting the now retired civil engineer who had provided them with important answers to the fate of Pvt. Baker who had been listed as "missing in action" since his parachute unfurled in the skies near Groesbeek, Holland, on Sept. 20, 1944.

Fred Baker, Pvt. Baker's brother, sent van der Laan a plaque of appreciation before his death a few years ago and only last year his daughter Betty, a school teacher at Brookhaven high school, visited the van der Laan family in Holland. The van der Laans recent flight to Mississippi was the fulfillment of a dream on both sides of the Atlantic.

Upon their arrival the van der Laans first visited in the home of Pvt. Baker's sister, Mrs. Bernice Brewer of Hinds county. They next visited the family of the late Fred Baker.

The van der Laans have visited farms and farm functions in Hinds, Covington, Lincoln, Warren, and Yazoo counties. With considerable interest they have picked cotton, picked up and eaten freshly fallen pecans, and enjoyed seeing agricultural Mississippi.

The "father of waters" was the focal point of visits to Natchez and Vicksburg. They closed one day at historic Natchez-Under-the-Hill watching traffic coursing across the illuminated bridge at dusk, and photographing a prolonged display of lightning in the Louisiana sky reflected across the waters of the massive stream.

At Vicksburg they stood beside a cannon muzzle overlooking the twin bridges and watched towboats and long strings of barges thread the needle of bridge pilings and churn upstream around a northward bend.

Geert is a 25-year-old nephew of Bernard with a mastery of the English language. He is vacationing from his job dealing with taxes in Holland and has accepted an invitation from a Mississippi legislator to visit the Mississippi Capital and meet with several state officials.

At Yazoo City the Dutch trio visited Mississippi Chemical Corporation which was patterned after pioneering work in the manufacture of synthetic nitrogen by the Dutch following World War II to alleviate shortages in that county.

But the eyes of the Dutch visitors seem always to focus on the Mississippi River as the main attraction to these who have lived with the Rhine as it courses through low Holland enroute its outlet in the North Sea or the vast network of canals so vital to Dutch transportation.

Lobel selected to receive USM silver medal

Author-illustrator Arnold Lobel has been selected as the 1985 recipient of the University of Southern Mississippi's Silver Medallion for his distinguished contributions to children's literature.

Lobel will receive the award during the 18th annual Children's Book Festival March 7-8, 1985, at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Lobel's books have received the American Library Association Notable Book Awards, Caldecott Honor Book Awards and the Children's Showcase Book Awards. In 1973, he received the Christopher Award for "On the Day After Tomorrow Sailed Into Town," and the Newbery Honor Book Award for "Frog and Toad Together."

The USM festival will feature nationally known writers and illustrators of children's literature. The conference will include book sales, autograph parties, exhibits, luncheons and banquets.
